A Mom's Experience With San Ramon FC's ID Camps

“Mariah attended the San Ramon ID Camp for the last two years. It was always a great experience and opened the doors to many colleges she didn't really consider prior to the camps.

This includes the college she is now committed to.

As a Mom, it was important for me to know that wherever my daughter ended up going to school, it felt like buying that perfect house that you can already see yourself living in.

The San Ramon ID Camp was a great place to get that process started as a variety of coaches attend, opening up many avenues.

We went on MANY unofficial visits with the majority as a direct result of the San Ramon ID Camp to find that perfect school and soccer program.”

A: To anyone thinking of attending the ID Camp in the future, go for it! You are able to get great exposure to multiple colleges while being able to showcase your skills through drills directed by the coaches.

One suggestion I have for people attending the camp is to relax. Don't be worried about making mistakes. Play your hardest and just have fun!

A Coach's Analysis Of College ID Camps

“College ID Camps are critical for a player looking to play in college.

For older players, it's a chance to be seen and trained by actual college coaches. This will allow them to get direct coaching points from the coaches who are working at the collegiate level.

Furthermore, it's a chance for the player to evaluate that particular coach to see if they like his/her style and personality.

For the younger players, it gives them the chance to be seen and get their name on the lists of interested coaches.”
